Discussion of the methods adopted for valuation of assets and equity & liabilities (including depreciation/amortisation):

A. Intangible assets

Not present

B. Fixed assets

Not present

C. Fixed assets under construction

Not present

D. Investments

Investments in subsidiaries, jointly controlled entities and affiliates, as well as other long-term investments are valued at fair value.

Other short-term investments excluding cash and financial assets are valued at adjusted cost - if a maturity date has been specified for the asset, and short-term investments for which there is no alternative market, at another specified fair value.

Financial assets at the time of entry into the books are valued at cost (purchase price), which is the fair value of the consideration paid.

Transaction costs are included in the initial value of these financial instruments. Financial assets are entered in the books on the date of the transaction.

E. Accounts receivable and accounts payable Receivables are valued at the amount of required payment, in accordance with the principle of prudence. At the end of the financial year, receivables are analysed for impairment. Receivables in foreign currencies not settled as of the balance sheet date are valued at the average exchange rate established for a given currency by the National Bank of Poland on that date. Disputed, doubtful or significantly overdue receivables were covered by write-offs. Impairment charges on the balance sheet have reduced these receivables.

Liabilities are measured at the price to be paid.

F. Inventories

The company, due to the service nature of its business, does not carry out warehouse management.

G. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash shown in the balance sheet includes cash on hand, in the bank and short-term deposits with a maturity of three months or less.

Monetary assets are valued at face value at the end of the reporting period.

H. Accruals

The Company makes prepaid expenses if they relate to future reporting periods. Accrued expenses are made in the amount of probable liabilities attributable to the current reporting period.

I. Income tax

Provision for income taxes is made in relation to all positive temporary differences occurring at the balance sheet date between the tax value of assets and liabilities and their carrying value as shown in the financial statements.

A deferred tax liability is recognised for all taxable temporary differences, unless the deferred tax liability arises from the amortisation of goodwill or the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit or tax loss.

A deferred tax asset is recognized for all deductible temporary differences, as well as unused deferred tax assets and unused tax losses carried forward, to the extent that it is probable that taxable income will be generated to utilize the aforementioned differences, assets and losses.

The carrying amount of the deferred tax asset is reviewed at each balance sheet date and is reduced accordingly to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable income will be available to partially or fully realize the deferred tax asset.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are measured using the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period when the asset is realized or the liability is released, taking as a basis the tax rates (and tax laws) enacted as of the balance sheet date.

J. Valuation of assets and liabilities expressed in foreign currencies

Transactions expressed in currencies other than the Polish zloty are translated into Polish zlotys using the exchange rate in effect on the day preceding the transaction.

The value of outgoing foreign currencies from the bank account is valued sequentially at exchange rates starting with the one applied earliest.

As of the balance sheet date, assets and liabilities expressed in currencies other than the Polish zloty are translated into the Polish zloty using the average exchange rate of the National Bank of Poland, respectively.

K. Exchange rate differences

Exchange rate differences resulting from the valuation as of the balance sheet date of assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies, except for long-term investments, and arising in connection with the payment of receivables and liabilities in foreign currencies, as well as on the sale of currencies, are included in financial income or expenses, respectively.

L. Financial instruments

Financial instruments are valued in accordance with the Accounting Act and the Decree of the Minister of Finance dated 12/12/2001 on detailed rules for recognition, valuation methods, scope of disclosure and presentation of financial instruments.

M. Materiality of the financial statements

The Company applies simplifications under Article 4 (4) of the Accounting Law when this does not have a material adverse effect on the fulfilment of the obligation.

The Company determines the materiality level of the following criteria (materiality is exceeded when both parameters are exceeded simultaneously):

- 0.99% of total assets
- 0.49% of operating income from sales.

Determination of the financial result:

A. Financial result

The Company's financial result in a given financial year includes all revenues earned, attributable to the Company, and expenses charged to the Company related to those revenues, in accordance with the principles outlined above, other operating revenues and expenses, the result of prudent measurement of assets and equity & liabilities.

B. Revenues and expenses

The costs of current operating activities are recorded in the accounts of Group "4" - by type (Group 4).

Operating expenses are accounted for over time whenever the period to which they relate is longer than one financial year. Operating expenses relating to more than one reporting period but not extending beyond the financial year are included in full in the expenses of the current reporting period.

Operating expenses represent costs directly related to the Company's core business. Costs are recognized on an accrual basis to ensure that revenues and related expenses are commensurate.

Other operating expenses include loss on disposal of nonfinancial fixed assets, revaluation of property, plant and equipment and inventories, costs of unused production capacity not included in product manufacturing costs, allowances for receivables, compensation, penalties paid, donations made, penalty interest on taxes, social security and customs duties.

Finance costs include paid and accrued interest on loans and borrowings received, losses related to securities trading, excess of foreign exchange losses over gains, write-offs of financial assets and short-term securities.

The value of sales is accounted for based on the amount of invoices issued during the year less value added tax. Sales revenues presented in the income statement are reduced by discounts and other concessions granted to customers treated according to the same principles as discounts.

Revenue from the provision of services is recognized in proportion to the degree of completion of the service, provided that it can be reliably estimated. If the effects of a transaction related to the provision of services cannot be reliably determined, revenue from the provision of services is recognized only up to the amount of costs incurred for such services.

The origination fee associated with the loans is recognized in the Company's operating income in the year of the loan up to the amount of the profit on the loan after taking into account the Company's financing costs associated with the loan throughout the financing period. In connection with early repayment bonuses granted to borrowers, the Company makes provisions for early repayment bonuses. The level of provisions set up reflects anticipated early loan repayments.

Interest on loans, the granting of which is the Company's core business, is recognized in service revenue as it accrues, if its receipt is not in doubt.

Other operating income includes gain on disposal of nonfinancial fixed assets, the equivalent of reversed provisions and asset write-downs, expired or cancelled liabilities, received grants, subsidies, contributions, compensation and donations.

Financial income includes interest received or receivable on loans and advances, income related to securities trading and the excess of positive exchange differences over negative exchange differences.

Dividends due are recognised as financial income as at the date of the shareholders' meeting of the company in which the entity has invested adopting a resolution on the distribution of profit, unless the resolution specifies another date for the entitlement to dividends.

Preparation of the financial statements:

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the practice of entities operating in Poland, based on Appendix 1 of the Accounting Act of 29 September 1994 (Journal of Laws of 2019, item 351, as amended) and the implementing regulations issued on that basis.

Other accounting principles adopted by the entity:

The accounting principles adopted by the Company have been applied continuously and are in line with the accounting principles adopted by the entity.

The company prepares its income statement on a comparative basis.

Income from repayment of loans granted, including interest, was included in the entity's operating activities.

The granting and repayment of loans were included in the investment segment of the cash flow statement.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

This resulted in the preparation of new additional elements of the financial statements, i.e. the statement of changes in share capital and the cash flow statement (for both 2019 and 2020). Note 49 – Undisclosed information

Information required by Attachment No. 1 to the Accounting Act, not disclosed in the financial statements, did not occur during the current period.

Note 50 – impact of the COVID-19 outbreak on the Company's operations

The year 2020 saw the spread of the COVID-19 virus (coronavirus) in many countries. This situation is having a negative impact on the world economy. Significant weakening of the Polish currency, fluctuation of commodity prices, decline in the value of shares may affect the entity's situation in 2020. Management considers such a situation as an event that does not result in adjustments to the 2019 financial statements, but as an event after the balance sheet date, requiring additional disclosures.

The national isolation and the freezing of the economy had an impact on the Company's operations up to the date of the financial statements. By mid-March 2020, the company had recorded record loan sales. Over 7.5 million loans were granted during this period. As of mid-March 2020, the government-imposed isolation and exclusion of nearly ¾ of industries including medical offices from economic life has reduced the number and value of loans. In April, the decline was 57 percent compared to March 2020. Nonetheless, in April, the Company lent nearly 900 thousand zlotys. In late March and early April, the Company's management, reacting dynamically to the changes, introduced a plan to optimize costs and secure liquidity. In the first case, liquidity is secured by the loan portfolio itself, which is mainly built in the stable and strong dental segment. As of today, management does not see any negative changes in loan repayment compared to before the outbreak. This is undoubtedly due to the quality of the portfolio. In the first half of May 2020, following the government's decisions to partially unfreeze the economy, medical offices began accepting patients, which translated into the Company's sales results. In the first week of May, the Company granted loans totalling more than 500 thousand zlotys, already nearly 60 percent of all sales in April. The following months of unfreezing the economy brought business back into full swing. Sales very quickly returned to pre-epidemic levels, recorded record levels in the following months and stabilized at around 3 - 3.2 million zlotys by November. In December, meanwhile, loan sales surpassed the 4 million zloty barrier. In the first quarter of 2021, the company's sales increased by more than 61 percent compared to the same period in 2020.

According to the company's management, apart from a few periods of hard freeze in the economy, the pandemic did not have a significant impact on the company's operations. We anticipate that once the required percentage of the population is vaccinated, that part of the demand for medical services, which has so far been frozen due to the pandemic, will result in a large increase in the market and thus an increase in demand for financing medical procedures.

c) Significant events after the end of the Financial Year

The year 2020 saw the spread of the COVID-19 virus (coronavirus) in many countries. This situation is having a negative impact on the world economy. Significant weakening of the Polish currency, fluctuation of commodity prices, decline in the value of shares may affect the entity's situation in 2020. Management considers such a situation as an event that does not result in adjustments to the 2019 financial statements, but as an event after the balance sheet date, requiring additional disclosures. The national isolation and the freezing of the economy had an impact on the Company's operations up to the date of the financial statements. By mid-March 2020, the company had recorded record loan sales, with more than 7.5 million in loans granted during the period. As of mid-March 2020, the government-imposed isolation and exclusion of nearly ¾ of industries including medical offices from economic life has reduced the number and value of loans. In April, the decline was 57 per cent compared to March 2020. Nonetheless, in April, the Company lent nearly 900 thousand zlotys. In late March and early April, the Company's management, reacting dynamically to the changes, introduced a plan to optimize costs and secure liquidity. In the first case, liquidity is secured by the loan portfolio itself, which is mainly built in the stable and strong dental segment. As of today, management does not see any negative changes in loan repayment compared to before the outbreak. This is undoubtedly due to the quality of the portfolio.

An important safeguard for the Company's liquidity is a bank loan of PLN 3 million received after the outbreak in Poland, as well as lines of credit from shareholders of the parent company, MFG S.A., for a total of PLN 8 mil. In the first half of May 2020, following the government's decisions to partially unfreeze the economy, medical offices began accepting patients, which translated into the Company's sales results. In the first week of May, the Company granted loans totalling more than 500 thousand zlotys, already nearly 60 percent of all sales in April. The following months of unfreezing the economy brought business back into full swing. Sales very quickly returned to pre-epidemic levels, recorded record levels in the following months and stabilized at around 3 - 3.2 million zlotys by November.

In December, however, loan sales surpassed the PLN 4 million barrier. In the first quarter of 2021, the Company's sales increased by more than 61 per cent compared to the same period in 2020.

5. Future situation of the Company

a) Indication of risk factors and description of threats to the Company's operation

In view of the slow stabilization of the epidemiological situation in Poland and the gradual unfreezing of the economy, the Management Board does not perceive any significant risks and expects a rapid return to the path of dynamic growth in the Company's revenues and financial results. According to the company's management, apart from a few periods of hard freeze in the economy, the pandemic did not have a significant negative impact on the company's operations.

The Company's management expects high growth rates in 2021. This picture will be influenced by factors such as the vaccination of the required percentage of the population, which will result in that part of the demand for medical services, which has so far been frozen due to the pandemic, causing a large increase in the market and thus an increase in the demand for financing medical procedures. The second important factor that will have an impact on the Company's sales and profitability growth is the new, better-tailored products that the Company introduced in Q3 2020.

b) Anticipated future development of the entity

The Company's Management Board foresees the development of the company through an increase in the scope and scale of operations aimed at improving EBITDA.

c) Anticipated financial situation

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the National Standards on Auditing in the wording of the International Standards of Auditing adopted by resolution of the National Council of Statutory Auditors No. 3430/52a/2019 on 21 March 2019 on national standards of auditing and other documents ("NSA") and in accordance with the Act on statutory auditors, auditing firms and public supervision dated May 11, 2017 ("Auditors Act" - consolidated text, Journal of Laws of 2020, item 1415)

Our responsibility under these standards is further described in the section of our report entitled "Auditor's Responsibility for the Audit of Financial Statements".

We are independent of the Company in accordance with the International Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including the International Independence Standards) of the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants ("IESBA Code") adopted by a resolution of the National Council of Statutory Auditors No. 3430/52a/2019 on 21 March 2019 on principles of professional ethics for statutory auditors and other ethical requirements that apply to auditing financial statements in Poland. We have fulfilled our other ethical obligations in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA Code. During the course of the audit, the key auditor and the auditing firm remained independent of the Company in accordance with the independence requirements of the Auditors Act.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to form the basis for our opinion.

Explanation with special attention - pandemic COVID-19

The year 2020 and then the beginning of 2021 brought further spread of the SARS-CoV-2 virus (coronavirus) in many countries. This situation has an overall negative impact on the global and domestic economies. However, the sharp changes in the main macroeconomic indicators and the weakening of the general economy did not affect the Company's situation in 2020, which recorded an improvement in the level of all its main economic indicators in the year under review. Management believes that the pandemic does not have a material impact on the company's operations, as reported in Note 50 of the notes to the financial statements.

Our opinion does not contain an objection to the matter.

Explanation with attention - change in the form of presentation of financial statements

In 2020, the Company changed the form of presentation of the financial statements, such that the financial statements for 2020 were prepared on the basis of Appendix 1 of the Accounting Act of 29 September 1994 (Journal of Laws of 2021, item 217), while for the previous reporting year the statements were prepared in accordance with Appendix 5 of the Act. This resulted in the preparation of new additional elements of the financial statements for 2020, namely the statement of changes in equity and the cash flow statement (for both 2019 and 2020).

The detailed presentation of financial data for 2019-2020 in the financial statements remained unchanged despite the change in the form of presentation, the comparability of data in 2019- 2020 was maintained. The detail of the comparative data corresponds to the detail of the data in the reporting year. The entity announced this change in paragraphs 2 and 43 of the notes.

Our opinion does not contain an objection to the matter.

Responsibility of the Management Board for the financial statements

The Company's Management Board is responsible for the preparation, on the basis of properly maintained account books, of financial statements that give a true and fair view of the Company's assets, financial position and result in accordance with the provisions of the Accounting Act, the accounting principles (policy) adopted, the laws applicable to the Company and the Company's Articles of Association, and for such internal control as the Company's Management Board determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Company's Management Board is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, if applicable, matters related to going concern, and adopting the going concern basis of accounting, except when the Management Board either intends to liquidate the Company or to discontinue operations or has no viable alternative to liquidation or discontinuance.

The Company's Management Board is responsible for ensuring that the financial statements meet the requirements of the Accounting Act.

Auditor's responsibility for audit of financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement due to fraud or error and to issue an audit report containing our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of certainty, but it does not guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the National Standards on Auditing will always detect an existing material misstatement. Misstatements may arise as a result of fraud or error and are considered material if they could reasonably be expected to individually or in the aggregate affect the economic decisions of users made on the basis of these financial statements.

The scope of the audit does not include assurance as to the future profitability of the Company or the efficiency or effectiveness of the Company's Management Board of its affairs now or in the future.

During an examination compliant with the National Standards on Auditing, we use professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism, as well:

- we identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures appropriate to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to form the basis of our opinion. The risk of undetected material misstatement resulting from fraud is greater than that resulting from error because fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentation or circumvention of internal controls;
- we obtain an understanding of the internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the given circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control;
- we assess the appropriateness of the accounting principles (policy) used and the appropriateness of the accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Management Board;
- we draw a conclusion on the appropriateness of the Company's Management Board's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether there is any material uncertainty related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, we modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report; however, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease operations as a going concern;
- we evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including disclosures, and whether the financial statements present the underlying transactions and events in a manner that ensures a fair presentation.

Other information, including a report on operations

Other information consists of a report on the Company's operations for the financial year ended December 31, 2020 ("Report on Operations").

The Company's Management Board is responsible for preparing the Report on Operations in accordance with the provisions of law.

The Company's Management Board is required to ensure that the Company's Report of Operations meets the requirements of the Accounting Act.

Responsibility of the Auditor

Our audit opinion on the financial statements does not cover the Report on Operations. In connection with our audit of the financial statements, it is our responsibility to review the Report on Operations and, in doing so, to consider whether it is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained during the audit, or otherwise appears materially misstated. If, based on the work performed, we find material misstatements in the Report on Operations, we are required to report this in our audit report. Our responsibility under the requirements of the Auditors Act is also to issue an opinion as to whether the report on operations has been prepared in accordance with the regulations and whether it is consistent with the information contained in the financial statements.

Opinion on the report on operations

Based on the work performed in the course of the audit, in our opinion, the Company's Report on Operations:

- was prepared in accordance with Article 49 of the Accounting Act,
- is consistent with the information contained in the financial statements.

In addition, in light of the knowledge of the Company and its environment obtained during our audit, we declare that we have found no material misstatements in the Report on Operations.
